

Greetings to all members of the HealthEd Connect team.

I am Zelly Mwape from Zamtan Community School of Peace. A short story of life, I am a last born in a family of three, a single female with children. My parents passed away a long time ago. At first I did a short course in teaching with the World Vision International and I got a little experience. Because it is a short course, I was falling to manage the classes [and] even to handle cases facing the children. Teaching as my career, I enjoy being with pupils an even to learn more from children - especially stories on how they live in their homes [and] other information. To my side as a ECE teacher, children need more toys and get tired faster when it is not time to knock off. Since [I] am a qualified teacher, I use my initiative to make more toys using local materials and telling them interesting stories that are suitable to the lessons.

After completing a short course I started to work as a volunteer in my community. The HealthEd Connect team took and sponsored me in all school requirements like stationary, transport, and school fees. The team continue sponsoring to do primary diploma where now I get more experience in teaching. After completing the studies am now a full trained teacher and managed to handle the students in classes. I also know how to live with people from different places and how to share ideas with other people.

About all what they did in my life, I really appreciate the HealthEd Connect team to continue with the same spirit. May God bless the team.
